

Web Appendix 4: Knowledge statements and attitude questions

Knowledge question

Chlamydia is a sexually transmissible infection that affects only women

Chlamydia can lead to sterility among women

A woman can have chlamydia without any obvious symptoms

A man can have chlamydia without any obvious symptoms

Chlamydia is curable

Chlamydia can be prevented by using condoms when you have sex

Chlamydia can be tested for with a urine sample

Attitude

I think I am at risk for chlamydia

I don't think I have chlamydia

I don't care whether I have chlamydia or not

I don't know how to get a chlamydia test

I would be too embarrassed to see a doctor or nurse to talk about chlamydia

I would not see a doctor or nurse about chlamydia because I am worried about confidentiality

It is difficult for me to see a doctor or nurse about chlamydia because of transport

I would prefer to see a doctor or nurse who is the same sex as me for a chlamydia test

It is difficult for me to see a doctor or nurse about chlamydia because of cost

I would feel comfortable visiting a doctor or nurse to get a chlamydia test

I do not want to talk to a doctor or nurse about my sexual history

I can't get a chlamydia test because I don't have a Medicare card

I don't want a chlamydia test because I'm scared of what it might show

I don't want a chlamydia test because my partner/s might find out

I would have a chlamydia test if my partner/s wanted me to

I would have a chlamydia test if my doctor recommended it

I want to have a chlamydia test because I would want to prevent any long term health problems from Chlamydia

I want to have a chlamydia test because I don't want to give chlamydia to my partner/s if I have it
